Is freight shipping necessary for solar panels?

Solar panels often require freight shipping services due to their oversized dimensions and the need for careful packaging. Freight shipping solar panels involves protecting the fragile cargo from damage during transit and ensuring careful and on-time delivery. It takes the right freight partner to ensure solar panels are transported safely.

How do solar panels get shipped?

Solar panels, such as those manufactured in Taiwan, are typically shipped via ocean freight to Long Beach, California. Subsequently, they may be transported via full truckload shipping to a distributor's warehouse in Miami, Florida. Large solar panels, like those used on solar farms, might require oversized freight shipping services.

How do I ship solar panels overseas?

Ocean freight is typically the most cost-effective way to ship solar products overseas, while air freight is usually a faster option for projects with strict deadlines. Once a solar panel shipment arrives at the destination country, it can be moved inland through a variety of intermodal transport methods.

Should solar panels be protected during shipping?

Solar panels are expensive and valuable, so protecting them during the shipping process is necessary. Solar panels are typically stacked in a box or crate prior to shipping. They can be stacked horizontally or vertically, depending on the panel's dimensions.
